While there are some people who can be downright obsessive-compulsive about organizing their homes, they should not resent people who are not like them.

Showing people the benefits of organization to life and health can be a good way to encourage them to be sensible or systematic in their life. However, to tell them what to do or look down on them is a definite no-no. Being organized is not a skill set that comes with your genes. You can learn organization, it is a trait that can be taught, caught and nurtured. As you set your mind towards the goal of being an organized person, and you constantly practice organization, you can develop the skill.

The best time is now, the best day is today and the best person to do it is you. No one can organize your life for you. And no one will benefit from it more than you. Get up and take the first steps on your organization journey so you can reap the advantages it brings.
