Coming of age: notes from the front line of aging Rosemary Rawson

COMING OF AGE is a delightful collection of reflections on the ups and downs of aging. Rosemary Rawson captures the challenges of getting older, but with a lively sense of humor underlaid by quiet wisdom. You can't be too serious or down when you're reading COMING OF AGE - it picks you up, makes you chuckle, and gives you a positive perspective: what else is needed! AVAILABLE IN PAPERBACK & KINDLE. A TASTE: "The summer is winding down and our Flute Circle was playing one last time at the Desert Museum Summer Saturday Night event. The dress code has always been Tucson casual, which in August is really, really casual. The question was, could I wear my Wild Woman dress? ...I picture myself standing tall, striding to the microphone, shoulders back, chin high, my Wild Woman dress wafting in the breeze, and belting out 'Georgia on my Mind' as the audience rises to its collective feet on the final wail. ...I wore my Gloria Vanderbilt jeans that fit like a glove and over-moussed my new modified buzz cut. The audience remained seated." TASTE 2: "If I'm awake in the middle of the night, I can vacuum or play my flute without annoying anyone. ...If what I really want for supper is a bowl of Cheerios, I have it, and no one points out that I've had Cheerios for supper three times this week." TASTE 3: "Get your affairs in order so you don't leave a mess behind you. And the old maternal advice: Don't go out with raggedy underwear - just in case. When you've made your Plan B, share it with your nearest and dearest. And then forget it. Live. Love. Laugh. Play mah jongg! Note to self: Get new underwear." COMING OF AGE is light to hold, easy to slip into a purse or briefcase - and just what you need when you're sitting in a doctor's office, airport, or at home on a bad-hair day. You'll be relaxed and smiling in no time!
